RE: Establishing a new 50 bed Year-Round Emergency Shelter for families

ORD. OR RES. No.

PURPOSE: This request speaks to the multiple ordinances necessary to establish a new 50 bed Year-Round Emergency Shelter for families:

- 1) To authorize the Chief Administrative Officer to execute, for and on behalf of the City, a Deed of Lease between the City and Potomac Area Hostels, Inc., for the purpose of the City leasing, for use by HomeAgain, the approximately .113 acre parcel of real estate located at 7 North 2nd Street consisting of a free-standing building of 13,867 ± square feet.
- 2) To authorize the Chief Administrative Officer to execute a sub-lease between the City of Richmond as Lessor and Emergency Shelter, Inc. d/b/a HomeAgain as Lessee for the purpose of operating a 50 bed year-round emergency shelter at the real property located on the approximately .113 acre parcel of real estate located at 7 North 2nd Street consisting of a free-standing building of 13,867 ± square feet.

- 3) To authorize the Chief Administrative Officer to execute a grant contract between the City of Richmond and Emergency Shelter, Inc. d/b/a HomeAgain for the purpose of funding the operations of a 50 bed emergency shelter at 7 North 2nd Street.
- 4) To amend the Fiscal Year 2023-2024 General Fund Budget to:
 - a. (i) to transfer $542,056 from the Non-Departmental agency, United Nations Church International of VA, Inc. - Inclement Weather Shelter line item, (ii) create a new line item in the Non-departmental agency entitled “HomeAgain Emergency Shelter” and (iii) to appropriate such transferred funds in the amount of $542,056 to such new line item in the Non-Departmental agency for the purpose of making a grant to operate a new 50 bed emergency shelter for families.
 - b. (i) to transfer $121,800 from the Non-Departmental agency, United Nations Church International of VA, Inc. - Inclement Weather Shelter line item, and (ii) to appropriate such transferred funds in the amount of $121,800 to the Office of Deputy Chief Administrative Officer for Human Services for the purpose of leasing the property at 7 N. 2nd Street for use as an emergency shelter.

REASON: To establish a new 50 bed emergency shelter for families at 7 North 2nd Street, the Administration requires authorization to sign a lease for the building, sublease the building to the shelter operator HomeAgain, make a grant to HomeAgain to operate the shelter, and re-appropriate unspent FY23 funds that had been appropriated for FY23 shelter costs and have since been encumbered and rolled over into the FY24 General Fund Budget.

RECOMMENDATION: The City Administration recommends adoption.

BACKGROUND: In March of 2023 Mayor Levar Stoney and City Council declared a housing crisis in the City of Richmond. Emergency shelters for persons without housing serve as a safety net of last resort for this vulnerable population. In its 2020-2030 strategic plan to end homelessness, the City identified a 150 bed shortage in emergency shelter beds. This O&R request supports one component of the strategy to meet the urgent need for more emergency shelter capacity for families. Once adopted and implemented the region’s current 92-bed capacity to serve families year-round will be expanded by 50 beds as early as December 1, 2023. This O&R seeks authorization to achieve the following:

- 1) An operating grant between the City and Home Again, an experienced emergency shelter provider for families since 1979, to operate the 50 bed year-round emergency family shelter out of the “Richmond Hostel”. Families with the most urgent needs will be admitted to the shelter, as prioritized and coordinated by the Greater Richmond Continuum of Care and federally approved. The total amount of the grant contract is $1,653,718.42. FY 24 costs total $542,056, including $101,080 for start-up and one-time equipment and $440,976 in operating costs for the 7 months of the fiscal year. All cost obligations beyond FY24 costs are subject to Council appropriation. The length of the operating agreement is two years, with the option to extend one additional year upon mutual agreement.

- 2) A lease for the 50-bed family shelter between the City and Potomac Area Hostels, owner of the “Richmond Hostel” at 7 North 2nd Street. The first month’s rent will be $16,800 and $15,000 per month for the duration of the lease without escalation. The lease term is two years. The equivalent of one month’s rent, $15,000, would be provided as a security deposit when the lease is signed. The City has the option to extend one additional year if notice is given to the Owner six months in advance of the expiration of the two year lease. As part of the lease agreement, the City has a first right of negotiation to purchase the property, if the owner decides to sell the property before the lease expires. The City has the option to assign that “negotiation to purchase right” to the operator of the 50-bed year-round emergency shelter at the Hostel.
- 3) A sublease between the City and HomeAgain to operate the shelter at 7 North 2nd Street. There is no charge to HomeAgain to sublease the property from the City.
- 4) Re-appropriation of unspent shelter funds from FY23 non-departmental lines to fund FY24 costs to lease and operate the shelter.

Note: Ordinance No. 2022-349, adopted December 12, 2022, appropriated $17,107,509.00 in surplus revenues to various agencies and non-departmental programs including $3,129,685 appropriated in Non-Departmental for implementing inclement weather shelter. $1,158,086 of the $3,129,685 was appropriated to a new line item entitled “United Nations Church International of VA, Inc. - Inclement Weather Shelter.” $693,084 of the $1,158,086 was not spent in FY 23 and was rolled over into the FY24 budget as part of an encumbrance roll completed in September of 2023. The funds are not contractually obligated and are available to be transferred for the FY24 shelter-related purposes outlined in this O&R. This O&R request seeks to amend the FY 24 General Fund budget where the funds now exist. However, it does not seek to amend a specific ordinance, as the ordinance initially appropriating the funds was an FY23 budget ordinance. Funds carried over from year to year in an encumbrance roll do not show up in the budget adopted in May, as the roll does not occur until weeks or months after the budget is adopted.

FISCAL IMPACT/COST: The lease and security deposit will cost the City $121,800 in FY24 and $180,000 in FY25. The grant to HomeAgain to operate the shelter will cost $542,056 in FY24 and a projected $774,139.64 in FY25. All cost obligations in FY25 and beyond are subject to Council appropriations in those fiscal years.

Greater Richmond Continuum of Care Standards for Emergency Shelter Programs March 2022

Introduction

The Greater Richmond Continuum of Care (GRCoC) has developed the following standards for partner agencies providing Emergency Shelters. These standards were created in collaboration with individuals from partner agencies including CARITAS, Daily Planet, Hanover Safe Place, HomeAgain, Housing Families First, Salvation Army, and YWCA. These standards were originally developed in April 2016 and revised in June 2022. They were reviewed by the GRCoC System Policy and Process (SPP) Committee and approved by the GRCoC Board. SPP reviews Program Standards every two years to ensure they are current with community needs and priorities. These standards will serve as the guiding principles for all Emergency Shelters, regardless of their funding sources. Each Emergency Shelter provider must maintain compliance with their grant funder requirements.

Description

Emergency Shelter is defined by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in 24

C.F.R. § 576.2 (2012) as any facility, the primary purpose of which is to provide a temporary shelter for the homeless in general or for specific populations of the homeless, and which does not require occupants to sign leases or occupancy agreements. Emergency Shelters provide emergency housing to deal with an individual's or family's immediate housing crisis.

Assistance is offered without preconditions (such as employment, income, absence of criminal record, or sobriety) and with few to no barriers. According to the National Alliance to End Homelessness, low-barrier shelters embrace a housing-first approach so that anyone experiencing homelessness can access shelter without prerequisites, maintain a low-barrier environment that does not require sobriety, income, or other factors that would make it difficult to enter or stay in shelter, and uphold housing and safety - focused expectations that center on keeping guests, staff and visitors safe. The resources and services provided are typically tailored to the unique needs of the individual or family.

Emergency Shelters exist for both single adults and families. Single adult shelters serve individuals age 18 years and over. Family shelters serve one or more adults who are accompanied by one or more children under the age of 18. Emergency Shelters may also serve a specific target population such as single adult men, single adult women, those with medical vulnerability and victims of sexual and domestic violence. All individuals and families, regardless of the type of shelter, must meet HUD's definition of homelessness (see Eligibility Criteria section below).

Eligibility Criteria

In order to be eligible for Emergency Shelter, individuals and families must meet specific definitions of homelessness as defined by HUD under 24 C.F.R. § 576.2 (2012). Specifically, individuals and families must meet one of the following three homeless definitions:

- (1) An individual or family who lacks a fixed, regular, and adequate nighttime residence, meaning:
 - i. An individual or family with a primary nighttime residence that is a public or private place not designed for or ordinarily used as a regular sleeping accommodation for human beings, including a car, park, abandoned building, bus or train station, airport, or camping ground;
 - ii. An individual or family living in a supervised publicly or privately operated shelter designated to provide temporary living arrangements (including congregate shelters, transitional housing, and hotels and motels paid for by

- charitable organizations or by federal, state, or local government programs for low-income individuals); or
- iii. An individual who is exiting an institution where he or she resided for 90 days or less and who resided in an emergency shelter or place not meant for human habitation immediately before entering that institution;
- (2) An individual or family who will imminently lose their primary nighttime residence, provided that:
- i. The primary nighttime residence will be lost within 14 days of the date of application for homeless assistance;
 - ii. No subsequent residence has been identified; and
 - iii. The individual or family lacks the resources or support networks, e.g., family, friends, faith-based or other social networks, needed to obtain other permanent housing; or
- (3) Any individual or family who:
- i. Is fleeing, or is attempting to flee, domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, stalking, or other dangerous or life-threatening conditions that relate to violence against the individual or a family member, including a child, that has either taken place within the individual's or family's primary nighttime residence or has made the individual or family afraid to return to their primary nighttime residence;
 - ii. Has no other residence; and
 - iii. Lacks the resources or support networks, e.g., family, friends, faith-based or other social networks, to obtain other permanent housing.

Emergency Shelters should have minimal screening criteria, providing housing and services regardless of perceived or actual barriers (i.e. substance use, no or low income, domestic violence history, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, previous declines of services, mental health, and criminal record) and limited to only that screening criteria required by funding contracts. Emergency Shelters may not establish additional eligibility requirements beyond those specified in the GRCoC Coordinated Entry System Policies and Procedures and those required by other funders, including documentation, income, and/or employment. Domestic violence programs may include additional guidelines that participants have had an experience of domestic or sexual violence in order to access emergency shelter.

Determination of Eligibility

Clients will be referred from the coordinated entry system of the Greater Richmond Continuum of Care (GR CoC). For all assistance, an initial evaluation to determine need, program eligibility, and priority level of individuals and/or families will be conducted by the Homeless Connection Line. Coordination of services to victims of sexual and domestic violence is done through the Regional EmpowerNET Hotline.

Emergency Shelter Services

The primary services provided by Emergency Shelters are listed below. It is not required that a single entity provide all services nor that a household utilize all services available. Emergency Shelter services should be based on the following core principles: housing first approach and client-driven collaboration. Specific services provided by Emergency Shelter programs must be in compliance with grant funding, health, and safety requirements.

Each Emergency Shelter must demonstrate that clients have access to each of the following services via formal or informal methods:

- Safe physical environment
- Access to food
- Access to housing-focused case management

- Housing stability plan
- Housing-barrier assessments
- Linkages to mainstream resources

Length of Shelter Stay

Emergency Shelter is often the first stop for individuals and families entering the crisis response systems. Emergency shelters provide short term, crisis housing. As a component of HUD funding standards, the mean length of the average shelter stays should not exceed community performance measures (currently 45 days for 2022).

Program Guidelines

Emergency Shelters will have written program guidelines that outline program policies, procedures and expectations and specify services available. Program guidelines should be minimal to ensure client and staff safety and should not add unnecessary barriers for clients.

Non-Discrimination

Providers must have a policy prohibiting discrimination against participants based on actual or perceived race, ethnicity, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, religion, national origin, ancestry, disability, marital status, age, source of income, familial status, or domestic or sexual violence victim status, and ensuring that all participants are afforded equal opportunities.

Confidentiality

All Emergency Shelter providers will establish a written policy to ensure client confidentiality, which will be reviewed upon entry in to the program. All clients shall sign a client confidentiality agreement.

Conflict of Interest

All Emergency Shelter providers will establish a written policy to:

1. formally document Conflict of Interest amongst all employees, agents, officers, consultants and board members, and
2. prescribe appropriate action to take to ensure that all aforementioned parties do not use their positions for a purpose that gives the appearance of being motivated by the desire for private gain for themselves or others.

Complaints & Appeals

All providers must have a board-approved grievance policy and provide specific procedures to be followed for any disputed decision affecting assistance. Any individual receiving assistance must receive written notification of the grievance policy.

Termination

Providers must have a documented termination policy. The provider must exercise judgment and examine all extenuating circumstances in determining when violations warrant termination so that a program participant's assistance is terminated only in the most severe cases. In addition, Emergency Shelters may cease services to the client immediately if there is any real or perceived threat of violence or actual act thereof. Whenever possible, termination from one service may not necessitate termination from all services. Upon termination, Emergency Shelters should document the incidents that led to a participant's termination, both within the agency and in the data system. Bans from a particular program must be recorded in HMIS, and should note the program or agency issuing the ban, the reason and the length of time.

A grievance with termination should be reviewed or heard by an individual other than the person (or subordinate of that person) who made or approved the termination decision. Should the client or household disagree with the decision made by the initial reviewer, a second level must be available for an appeal at the CoC level. This two-level process, at a minimum, must consist of: (1) Written notice to the project participant containing a clear statement of the reasons for termination; (2) Prompt written notice of the final decision; and (3) Written policy for continuing assistance to surviving family members, in the event of a death of a head of household, that establishes a reasonable grace period of continued assistance to surviving family.

Data System

Emergency Shelter providers must adhere to the Data Quality Plan approved by the Greater Richmond Continuum of Care (GR CoC) Board. Providers must use the Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) or a comparable data system if the agency is prohibited from using HMIS.

Outcomes and Results

A standard set of outcomes will be reviewed for all Emergency Shelter providers. Outcomes and results will be based on the following data:

- The percentage of participants that have a housing stability plan
- The percentage of participants that are offered housing-focused case management within two weeks
- The mean length of stay
- The percentage of participants that exit with a successful housing outcome
- The percentage of participants that exit to an unknown location
- The percentage of participants who return to homelessness within a year of exit from the shelter
- The bed utilization rate
- The percentage of participants who increase income from non-employment and from employment income

Shelter Compliance

All shelter providers must meet all federal, state, and local regulations regarding ADA and Fair Housing compliance. Emergency Shelters must have written program guidelines that outline program policies, procedures and expectations and specify services available. Program guidelines should be minimal to ensure client and staff safety and should not add unnecessary barriers for clients. Emergency Shelter guidelines should also include a low-barrier process for requesting and reviewing reasonable accommodations at each facility, and provide that information to the Access Navigator to assist individuals, if necessary, with their request.

Espigh Family Shelter Policies & Procedures

It is important to read this staff handbook thoroughly. You must fully understand the shelter program and what steps you can take to successfully support this program. Please make sure you know what is expected of you. Staff may ask your supervisor or any management team member to explain any rules, regulations, or procedures you do not understand. Remember, you are here to serve our clients and the Home Again Emergency Shelter.

INTRODUCTION

Who are our clients?

The people who come through the doors of the HomeAgain Men's Shelter are, by definition, homeless. The "typical" client served may have a history of chronic poverty, basic skill deficiencies, and a variety of social problems such as domestic violence, medical problems, mental health, or substance abuse issues. Some have grown up in chaotic families or aged out of foster care. They arrive overburdened and debilitated by the stressors in their lives. For many, HomeAgain feels like their "last chance" to secure a stable home and family life.

Given these circumstances, what do we expect to see in these individuals in terms of behavior and a general worldview? Their experiences of abuse, violation, failure, and deprivation can be overwhelmingly intense, and the coping mechanisms they develop, no matter how negatively perceived, have arisen out of an instinct for survival. The most prevalent dynamic is a lack of trust. This lack of trust can manifest itself in depression, aggression, and attempts to manipulate people rather than confront them.

These behaviors and perspectives can be very difficult to understand, and very easy to mischaracterize. It is very common for professionals encountering these attitudes to feel disrespected, distrusted, or deceived. It is hard not to "take it personally". However, when staff is able to discuss these feelings through the supervisory process, it becomes easier to change a potentially destructive encounter into a "teaching moment" for the client as well as the staff member.

It is essential to also describe our clients from the perspective of their strengths and capacity to contribute to their own and other's growth. The clients we serve, though struggling in many areas of their lives, are survivors. Their resilience in the face of overwhelming setbacks can be inspirational. If able to make a successful adjustment to the Shelter program, many are able to bounce back, tackling life-altering challenges such as education, employment, mental health, or substance abuse programs. Residents are expected to accept a rigorous schedule and level of accountability, aimed at helping them take steps to achieve stable housing and improved family life, and it is to their credit that many are able to accept this challenge and thrive. Although many parents lack basic parenting skills, the families we serve are determined to keep their families together and tolerate a high level of intervention and oversight in their daily lives to make that happen.

It is also important to note that HomeAgain clients come from diverse cultural, racial, and socio-economic backgrounds. The role that this background has on their worldview, interpretation of their experiences, and their responses and behaviors cannot be underestimated.

Finally, it is necessary to point out that most of our clients are first and foremost, human beings. They have families and neighbors who are concerned about them, and they will most likely be returning to those communities and support networks when they leave. Such formal and informal support should be acknowledged by staff for their importance to the client and supported in a nonjudgmental way.

The Ever Changing Environment

HomeAgain operates within the context of standards of practice established by professionals in the fields of social work, mental health, and education, as well as the general climate of societal values and expectations.

In Richmond, The Ten Year Plan to End Homelessness is focused on housing stability. A lot of the strategies to increase housing stability will include an increase in safe and affordable housing, housing programs for ex-offenders, targeting prevention resources for those at risk of becoming homeless, and providing mental health and substance abuse services to those experiencing chronic homelessness. City-wide, homeless providers are working to re-invent or re-create the system to better serve individuals who are homeless. They are looking at programs like Housing First and Harm Reduction as a means of prevention and intervention.

In Richmond City and around the nation, the practice of rapid re-housing gives clients less time in shelter and more time in their own homes. In Richmond City, there are a couple of funding streams to support clients to move out of the shelter quickly by providing a security deposit and the first month's rent.

As employees in a progressive nonprofit on the "cutting edge" of this evolution, Home Again staff must challenge themselves to meet the needs of the clients in new and innovative ways. Staff members are encouraged to seek whatever training and staff development necessary to enhance their ability to perform at peak effectiveness within this dynamic environment. In addition, monthly events such as staff meetings allow staff members to be informed of and participate in the organization's program and design efforts.

The Shelter Environment

HomeAgain, like other residential programs, establishes policies and procedures in such a way that the environment that is created supports the mission of the organization within the context of its values and priorities. Shelter programs are designed to create a place where clients feel safe and cared for, and where their needs can be identified and if possible met. In order to be successful, each staff member is responsible for ensuring consistency and effectiveness in each of the components of the environment, including the physical environment, structure, relationships, and programs.

Physical Environment

The physical environments of the Shelter's common areas need to be free from damage or obstacles that could create safety issues. It should be clean, orderly, and attractively decorated in a home-like fashion, avoiding an institutional appearance. It should be well maintained and adequately supplied with the basic necessities, communicating that the client's needs are taken seriously.

The clients' living space is also an aspect of the environment that contributes to the overall objective of the Shelter. HomeAgain, therefore, expects its residents to maintain their space in an orderly, healthy manner. Daily inspections help provide incentive for the residents to comply with housekeeping standards, which if integrated into their daily lifestyle, will develop improved time management and a more organized approach to life.

HomeAgain provides a minimum of one meal daily. Clients requesting additional proportions or reporting special dietary needs should be given every reasonable consideration. The distribution of food and household supplies should take place at the agreed-upon time, and should never be conducted in a manner that may disregard the dignity of the client.

Each and every staff member is responsible for ensuring that the physical environment meets the criteria described above. This includes reporting problem areas, cleaning up after themselves, maintaining their individual workspace in a tidy manner, and making suggestions to improve the facility.

Shelter Program Structure

Home Again has developed its Health and Safety Guidelines with the intent of creating a supportive structure that is predictable, consistent, and fairly enforced. These guidelines are designed to assist in that process.

These guidelines are also meant to give our shelter guests an understanding of the services we provide, the staff members with whom they will work, and the health and safety standards that govern our facilities.

An important component of the structure is the Community Meeting, in which residents can discuss problems, provide peer support, and communicate environmental or "structural" concerns or suggestions for improvements. Because Home Again policies and programs are dynamic, not static, the input of residents and staff in their development is encouraged.

Interpreting and enforcing different elements of the Shelter structure can be very challenging for staff. Each client is unique, and very few of the expectations established in the Health and Safety Guidelines lend themselves to absolute "black and white" applications across the board. The abuse of this discretion by staff, or failure to incorporate the team's input, creates confusion and instability. The monthly staff meeting is a valuable opportunity for staff to discuss this issue, and to receive feedback from their teammates. Attendance at these meetings is required for all direct service staff.

Relationships

Perhaps the most important aspect of the Shelter environment is the issue of relationships. These relationships fall into the following three categories: staff-to-client, staff-to-staff, and staff-to-public.

Staff-to-Client

Each staff person who comes in contact with a resident must be prepared to use themselves as an agent of change. This means that staff should remember that their first priority is to ensure that all such interactions are therapeutic, and should be aimed at helping the residents achieve their goals.

The staff's attitude should be one of genuine interest in the individual, and a willingness to make time to meet their needs. Respect for dignity and confidentiality in all staff-client interactions is essential. At no time, for example, should staff communicate about a client's infraction of the Health and Safety Guidelines in the presence of other residents, or their guests. It is mandatory that staff ensure that HomeAgain clients live in an environment free from discrimination, sexual harassment, and threats of violence.

Maintaining professional boundaries is an essential key to the success of the relationship. The following are examples of behaviors that would be considered unacceptable in terms of violating professional boundaries with clients for any staff person. Exhibiting such behaviors may lead to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment with HomeAgain:

1. Developing any personal relationships, even as "friends," with any clients served by HomeAgain.
2. Giving personal money or other items to clients as a "favor"
3. Soliciting clients to provide goods or services to staff, whether paid or unpaid.
4. Soliciting clients to do personal errands.
5. Transportation in personal cars by staff or clients is not permitted under any circumstances.
6. Physical contact between residents and staff is strictly prohibited.
7. Staff is not permitted to solicit or offer services to or from residents for any reason,

Such requests should be reported to the Program Manager or Director of Shelter Programs immediately.

Staff-to-Staff

The staff-to-staff relationship is as important to the organization's success as the staff-to-client relationship. Home Again staff is viewed as an interdependent team of professionals organized to accomplish the task at hand. Each staff member is responsible for having a clear understanding of their own roles and responsibilities as well as how their job fits into the larger context of HomeAgain. HomeAgain staff must be committed to sharing feedback with one another and receiving input from one another with the understanding that peers are valuable resources for staff development. Furthermore, the client's best interest demands that clients be viewed from the broadest, most complete perspective. This requirement can only be fulfilled by an effective, multi-disciplinary, team approach.

All staff members are expected to respect the privacy of their colleagues, including workspace, files, phone messages, etc. Staff members have a right to confidentiality regarding any personal information shared in conversation between colleagues, but this does not preclude a staff member from reporting any practice by a colleague that is unsafe, unethical, or jeopardizes the well-being of the clients or the organization. It is the policy of HomeAgain that any such practice must be reported.

Respect for the unique perspective, training, and experience that each staff member brings to the job is critical to team building. In addition, different positions within the organization, by definition, embody slightly different priorities and tasks. Therefore, each member of the team should be aware of those priorities and how they will affect a teammate's point of view. All staff will be able to make valuable observations regarding a client's interpersonal skills. These observations and insights combine to give a broader, more comprehensive assessment of client strengths and weaknesses and are necessary for the organization to fulfill its obligation to the client. It becomes the responsibility of management to assess these observations and assist staff in integrating them into a coordinated, multifaceted plan of service for each client.

Finally, staff members must make concerted efforts to resolve differences and "buy into" team decisions in order to present a unified response to the clients. There is no excuse for undermining a fellow staff member to the clients, and it is never in the best interest of the clients to perceive that the organization is divided, or unable to respond clearly and appropriately to their needs. Individual staff members need to respond directly to their supervisor with any concerns they may have which do not get resolved at the peer level.

Staff-to-Public

Every staff member is considered a representative or "ambassador" for the organization. Daily contact with the general public and supporting agencies is routine. Therefore, staff members should be mindful that they have a responsibility to present in the most positive light, and should approach all visitors to the Shelter with equal graciousness and professionalism.

Standards of confidentiality must be carefully adhered to in order to protect the client's privacy. This means that no member of the staff may disclose any pertinent information about any resident or former resident to any members of the public, the media, volunteers, or even interested agencies without the expressed permission of the client, and in circumstances not explicitly covered in the release of information, guidance from the Director should be sought.

Staff may not disclose whether someone is a resident at HomeAgain. If someone calls the shelter and asks for an individual, staff should respond by saying "I cannot disclose whether that person is here or not."

Staff-to-volunteers

The staff-to-volunteer relationship is just as essential as staff-to-staff. The value that volunteers bring to HomeAgain and to this community is immeasurable. Staff should always be available to provide support and guidance when working with a volunteer.

General Staff Conduct

HomeAgain is a place of professional business. Our attire, communication style, and professional conduct should at all times be a role model for clients in regard to the usual expectations of a workplace environment.

As common sense suggests, staff should avoid wearing casual tee shirts,, "flip flops" or attire with overt religious or political messages which might make the clients uncomfortable. If staff is unsure whether their attire is appropriate, they are encouraged to ask their supervisor.

In addition, staff and volunteers are discouraged from certain behaviors in the agency common areas (front module and the staff meeting room/client TV room) including getting on Facebook, taking personal phone calls during business hours, having visitors (this jeopardizes confidentiality) or other behavior which might set the wrong example for clients on their job sites or for the general public.

Conclusion

This HomeAgain Policies and Procedures Manual has hopefully expressed in a general but comprehensive manner, the guiding principles for professional practice at HomeAgain. Employment is a wonderful opportunity to contribute constructively to the lives of homeless and at-risk individuals. Each employee brings to the organization a unique complement of personal and professional attributes and skills, and charts a plan for professional growth with his or her supervisor. None of us work in a vacuum; rather each employee's performance and attitudes contribute to the overall organization's ability to meet its promises and responsibilities to its clients and the community at large. It is with this understanding that this handbook is offered for the education of the employees of HomeAgain.

HomeAgain Men's Emergency Shelter must stay safe and secure for the men and women who live, work, and volunteer here. Our basic rules are in place to ensure a healthy and safe environment for all. Each shelter staff person bears the responsibility and has the authority to ensure that the basic rules of the shelter are enforced. Failure by staff to abide by any of the basic rules listed in this handbook could result in personnel actions. Consistency is our favorite buzzword.

All staff must be active participants in our programs if we are to achieve success.

If eligible your shelter stay may be extended. If assessed to be ineligible for continued stay, you will be referred back to the Homeless Crisis Line to determine the best services to meet your needs.

Meals: Meals are provided Monday - Friday for Breakfast and Dinner. All Meals must meet USDA guidelines. The refrigerator will be cleaned every Friday (or as needed), at that time any food that has gone bad or is not labeled will be disposed of. Beverages should be stored in a covered container at all times. Uncovered cups will be discarded immediately.

Occupying your reserved Bed: The need for emergency shelter outweighs the number of shelter beds available. You have been deemed eligible for an emergency shelter bed. Implied in that eligibility is that you do not have another place suitable for human habitation to occupy at night. As such, it is HomeAgain's expectation that you will occupy your bed space for no fewer than 8 hours per 24-hour period beginning each night. Allowances will be made for guests who work evening shifts if communicated in advance. Absences from the facility that last more than 24 hours (including weekends) will serve as an indication that you no longer need the shelter bed. After 24 hours of absence without any communication from you, your bed will be reported to the Homeless Crisis Line and assigned to another person in a housing crisis.

Discharge: It is our goal that you be discharged from the shelter is the result of finding permanent housing. HomeAgain staff will refer you to established community resources to assist you with obtaining some of the basic necessities to establish your new household. Due to the lack of storage space, we require you to pick up any personal belongings left at the shelter upon discharge within 48 hours of leaving the shelter. Personal items left in the shelter after 48 hours without any communication will be discarded. Guests may request a short extension of no more than 2 days.

Guest Rights: Participation in HomeAgain's service programs involves both rights and responsibilities for residents and staff. All residents have the right to:

A guest who believes that his or her stated rights as a HomeAgain guest have been violated may submit a complaint in writing to the Program Manager. The written complaint must state the right that has been violated and an explanation of the circumstances involved including the names of staff members or other guests involved in the situation. Accommodations will be made for those who are unable to write.

The Program Manager will meet with the guest as soon as possible but within five (5) working days of receiving the written complaint. During this initial meeting, the Program Manager will ask for information about the situation and discuss the guest's concerns. If necessary, he/she will meet with the guest and all involved parties. Within five (5) working days of the initial meeting, the Program Manager will respond to the client in writing indicating that a violation of the client's stated rights did or did not occur. Upon receipt of the Program Manager's response, the guest has the option of concluding the grievance process or proceeding to the next step – an appeal of the decision.

Staff Scheduling

Residential and Relief Counselors

The schedule of work hours for residential counselors and relief staff is kept in the staff/timesheet binder underneath the front desk. Staff are required to review the schedule and are responsible for knowing when they are scheduled to work. The schedule is updated on a regular basis and will reflect any changes. Once a shift has been assigned to you it is your shift. Therefore, you are responsible for coverage.

The 11 PM to 7 AM shift is an AWAKE shift. It is expected that staff will be at the front desk office awake, alert, and available to assist residents with any need that may arise. All staff are expected to remain awake during any scheduled shift.

Failure to stay awake on shifts presents a serious safety and security issue for both staff and residents. Please be advised that sleeping on a shift will result in disciplinary action up to and including possible termination of employment.

Please note that it is ILLEGAL to work a triple shift or 24 hours in a row. If this is going to happen and you believe that there is no other staff to cover, please contact the Program Manager or Director of Shelter Programs.

Shift Swaps

If any staff member would like to swap a shift or knows in advance they cannot work a day, it is the staff member's responsibility to find a replacement for his or her shift. These changes must also be approved by the Program Manager. The request for taking a day off must be completed in its entirety signed by the staff member and approved by the supervisor. These should be placed in the supervisor's box or emailed/hand-delivered. Please make sure you give the supervisor notice of the day(s)/shift(s) you are unable to work in the coming month by at least the 15th of the current month.

For example, if you are unable to work March 2nd, you would let your supervisor know by February 15th.

If you are regularly scheduled to work part-time residential counselor shifts, you will continue to be assigned those shifts. In order to maintain your current regular schedule, you are required to do the following:

1. If you are calling out (or running late) or need to switch shifts with someone, you must call your supervisor to alert him/her. Do not email your supervisor in this instance. A phone call is required so that she or he can plan accordingly. The supervisor has discretion in assigning shifts so that the needs of the shelter program are best met. Regular full-time staff must adhere to this same policy of contacting their supervisor.
2. You must work your scheduled shifts. Excessive absences tardiness or a pattern of switching shifts is not in the best interest of the shelter program and will lead to your shifts being reassigned to other staff.

Anyone is welcome to request extra shifts, provided those hours do not exceed 40 hours per week unless otherwise approved.

While on your scheduled shift

Staffing Your Scheduled Shift

Monday through Sunday

6am- 2 pm, 2pm-10 pm, 10 pm-6 am.

Arrive early enough in order for the staff that you are relieving to be able to brief you and allow them to leave on time.

Each time you arrive on duty you will communicate with the person you are relieving to discuss information that took place during their shift. Then you will write the date and time your shift began in the staff logbook. It is imperative that you document all information that occurs on your shift clearly and completely. You are to remain on your shift until your relief person comes on duty. Before you leave, brief them as to what occurred on your shift.

Every hour you are to do a complete walk-through of the building as well including all bedrooms, bathrooms, laundry room, and both front and back areas including the dumpster, and document in the log book if any changes have occurred as well as the status of the clients in the building. Once completing your walk-through, check each resident's name against the sign-out sheet located on the front counter to verify that all residents are accounted for and their whereabouts.

Forms

Located in the back office in the metal cabinet you will find all the current forms used for the facility including residents' sign-in/sign-out sheet, weekly chore list, roll call list, laundry list, donation slips, etc. In the back office located in the tall metal cabinet, you will find the agency's alcohol and urine test kits. CLIENTS ARE NOT ALLOWED IN THE BACK OFFICE.

Safety and Security

You are responsible for ensuring the safety and security of the building and residents during your shift. Once per hour conduct a security check of the building and residents by doing a complete walk-through of the entire facility including the outside front and back areas, carefully checking to see that each resident is safe and doing as they are supposed to do. Make sure to also check that all property is properly protected.

Make note of any facility problems, i.e. any lights that may be out, bathroom toilet/sink leaks, heat/air conditioner, etc. If the problem is serious and needs immediate attention you are to alert the on-call staff. Otherwise, fill out a work order and leave it in the case manager's mailbox.

Supplies

All supplies i.e.) Large and small trash bags, laundry/dish detergent, paper towels, toilet tissue, gloves, and rags, are kept in the back office as well as the metal cabinet in the common area. When needed to do chores staff are to distribute supplies to clients.

Keys

One full set of keys is located at the front desk. Each staff person is provided keys to perform duties as needed. These should be kept in the drawer of the front desk. At no point should a resident have this key ring in their possession.

General Conduct and Behavior

While on your scheduled shift at the facility, you are expected to be capable of walking around, picking up donations, and boxes, and moving around every now and then to ensure the safety and security of the residents. It is important to be attentive and aware at all times.

In order to be fully aware of the goings on in the shelter you should limit your: personal phone calls, especially when using the facility telephone. At no point is it acceptable for you to give out the facility phone number to friends and family unless it is an emergency or you have spoken with your direct supervisor, in addition, personal visitors should be limited to at least 5-10 minutes and only in the event that they are bringing you a meal, something you might have forgotten or need to address a personal matter. It is important that we conduct ourselves with professionalism and this means protecting the confidentiality of our residents. At any point in time if you have a visitor (friend, family member) we are compromising the confidentiality of the residents. This also takes away your attention from the shelter itself. In addition, using the computer for personal use such as Facebook, school work, printing out assignments, etc. for your own personal use should be limited. Supplies for our printer are very restricted. Please use your discretion with this.

As stated previously in this manual, staff-to-client relationships should remain completely professional. This means that it is unacceptable to request a resident to purchase something for you, run an errand for you, etc. Engaging in the above behavior could result in a verbal or written warning.

Volunteers

HomeAgain relies heavily on its volunteers. They come to us from a variety of civic groups, churches, community service organizations, etc. There is a logbook located behind the front desk where volunteers of all types must sign in each time they arrive on the property. Please remember that volunteers are guests who are taking time out of their schedules to support HomeAgain. Please help to make them feel welcome.

Shelter Procedures

Determination of Eligibility

Clients will be referred from the coordinated entry system of the Greater Richmond Continuum of Care (GR CoC). For all assistance, an initial evaluation to determine the need, program eligibility, and priority level of individuals and/or families will be conducted. Coordination of services to victims of sexual and domestic violence is done through the Greater Richmond Regional Hotline.

Intake

- Each morning by 8am the House Manager will notify the coordinated entry team of available bed space and the coordinated Entry team will provide referral information and estimated time of arrival.
- When referrals are sent the House Manager will complete the initial intake pack and notify the Case Manager, Programs Manager, and Director of Shelter Programs that intake has been completed.
- Staff on duty will assign shelter guests a bed number, cabinet space to store any food items, and a locker if needed and acclimate the resident to the shelter and ensure that they have necessary linens and toiletries.
- Staff on duty must also obtain resident bags and clothing to run through the Pack Tight Machine.
- The case manager will finish completing the intake process. This includes ISP and Housing Assessment (this must be completed within 72 hours)
- Case manager will then complete Service Point Entry into HCIS and upload ISP and Housing Assessment into HCIS as well
- The Case Manager will conduct weekly follow-up meetings with the client to review the progress of ISP and document any progress or updates to ISP in the case notes section of HCIS.

Length of Shelter Stay

Emergency Shelter is often the first stop for individuals and families entering the crisis response systems. These shelters provide short-term, crisis housing. The median length of shelter stays should not exceed 45 days.

Discharge

Once it is established that a resident will be discharged, either voluntarily or involuntarily, the following procedure should be followed:

- Inform the resident that he has the right to file a grievance. Remind him of the grievance process in the resident handbook;
- Give the resident a copy of the central intake phone number and address and hours they can get services. (During Cold Weather- give the resident a copy of the information for the Overflow Shelter)

- If the discharge is for dangerous or physically violent behavior, contact the police for assistance with the discharge if necessary.
- Residents who have been discharged from HomeAgain Men's Emergency Shelter must wait at least 30 days prior to trying to access a bed here again.
- Residents are expected to remove all personal items at the time of discharge within 48 hours

Weekend Passes/Pre-approved Absences

Shelter guests may request Pre-approved absences. Pre-approved absences are generally issued to shelter adults for medical reasons, death in the family, or employment reasons. In all cases, written documentation is required and by be approved by the case manager. Sometimes, a resident will call the shelter if they have an emergency- family, medical, etc. These should be noted in the logbook.

Transportation Subsidies

Bus tickets may be provided to residents through their case manager, and all requests should be directed to the case manager. Resources are extremely limited, so we cannot guarantee that bus tickets will be available when requested. Staff must hand the bus ticket to the client.

Hold Mail System

Home Again will hold mail for clients for 30 days who have participated in the Home Again Men's Emergency Shelter program. Exceptions can be considered in holding mail for an extended period of time, as individual requests are made.

Incident Reporting

Incident reports are reserved for reporting incidents where 911 is called, incidents of violence, accidents involving staff or residents, issues where safety is of concern (especially where children are involved), or other similarly critical incidents.

If an incident takes place on the shelter property, the program manager should be contacted, and an incident report should be written by staff on duty during the incident. The originals of the incident report MUST be placed in the program manager's mailbox.

Hygiene Products and Linens Distribution

Hygiene products are located in the supply closet and in the case manager's office. If a client expresses a need for a hygiene product, they should be given it. If they request a hygiene product that is currently not present at the shelter, the case manager and program manager should be notified.

Upon entry, a resident should be given a clean set of sheets and one towel for their personal use during their shelter stay. Clients may only receive one complete set of linens, and they are responsible for laundering them during their stay.

HomeAgain receives donations of laundry detergent. All residents are allowed to access this whether or not they are employed. Residents should be encouraged to launder their clothes/linens and instruction on how to launder should be offered if the situation presents itself.

Client's belongings and cleanliness

Existing clients that need to store personal items are allowed up to the standard 48 hours that Home Again will keep items. The Case Manager may have worked out an agreement with the client to extend this time, and any such agreements will be noted in the logbook.

Resident Chore List

All residents are assigned a chore and the chore list is updated weekly. Support staff are responsible for ensuring chores are completed by 10:00 a.m. and 10:00 p.m. daily.

Weekly chores are assigned on the Monday before the new week of chores start. Familiarize yourself with the chore's time frame as some are to be completed in the morning, while others are completed in the evening. All chores are to be completed daily. Check to see if the assigned chores have been completed. It is your responsibility to make sure all chores have been completed correctly. Please be mindful that some

In the event that a client asks staff to call 911, staff can suggest the client arrange transportation to the local ER if the client's condition does not appear to be life-threatening. It is VERY IMPORTANT the staff on shift complete a donation form with correct amount of donation and contact information. The percentage of clients that are offered housing-focused case management within two weeks

All clients will be offered housing-focused case management and assigned a case manager within 72 hours of intake. Case management is not mandatory but strongly encouraged and expected of all shelter guests.

The median length of stay

The percentage of participants that exit with a successful housing outcome

It is the goal that all clients exit to a permanent housing destination. However, due to the client we serve sometimes that is not always the best options. Some clients many need a little more support before they are ready to focus on housing (I.e. SUD programs, Inpatient mental Health, etc.). However, it is a Home Again and GRCoC goal that at least 60% of HomeAgain ES clients exit to permeant housing.

Increase Income- Employment

All clients are offered assistance, through case management, to improve financial stability. It is always a goal to help a client who is unemployed or under-employed to secure more/better employment opportunities. However, it should be noted that not all of our clients entering the shelter are interested in pursuing employment due to disabilities or other circumstances. It is HomeAgain and GRCoC Goal that at least 10% of clients improve income through employment prior to exiting the shelter.

Increase Income- Other Sources

Through case management, Home Again works with clients to improve income through other means as well. For example, clients who are unable to work due to a disability, the Home Again Case manager will work to assist client with completing disability or social security application whenever possible. It is a HomeAgain and GRCoC goal that at least 10% of client improve income through sources other than employment prior to exiting shelter.

HCIS consent will be obtained in order to enter client's data into HCIS.
