Assessments of Affordable Housing Properties

Shane Smith, Williams Mullen Attorney, provided an overview of Virginia law governing assessments of affordable housing properties. Mr. Smith stated that assessments of affordable housing properties using mass appraisal techniques inflates assessments of such properties, and that mass appraisals did not conform with Virginia law. Mr. Smith stated that assessments of affordable housing properties should not be based on fair market value.

Vice Chair Ellen Robertson asked the City Assessor Richie McKeithen to provide comments on the information that was presented to the committee.

City Assessor Richie McKeithen explained that rental rates have increased nationally; however, his office has been in collaboration with the Housing and Community Development Department to identify affordable housing properties. Mr. McKeithen explained the assessment approach utilized by the city and stated that his office has been working with the Office of the City Attorney for its interpretation of state code. Mr. McKeithen responded to questions regarding the capitalization rates.

Justin Stanley, Office of the City Assessor Appraiser IV and Multifamily Assessment Supervisor, explained the city's assessments of affordable housing units and market rate properties.

Mr. McKeithen commented that the Office of the City Assessor is open to discuss assessment concerns with interested parties.

Chair Andreas Addison stated that homeowners are being challenged with higher assessments based on the market value evaluations and asked about options available to homeowners to reduce the fiscal impacts of increased property values.

Mr. McKeithen reported that changes in the assessment of properties would require action by the Virginia General Assembly.

Mr. Smith explained some options to be considered to reduce financial impacts on property owners.

Chair Addison stated that he would like to explore options to keep low-income tax credit (LIHTC) properties affordable.

Member Michael Jones expressed a need for Council to adopt policies to ensure all Richmond residents can afford to live in the city.

Vice Chair Robertson commented on a lack of commitment from the city to fund the Affordable Housing Trust Fund, and recommended a future work session with Council and city administration to discuss funding and solutions needed to achieve the city's affordable housing initiatives.
