Public Hearing

Rebecca Gwynn, Deputy Director for the Virginia Department of Wildlife Resources, spoke in opposition of proposed ORD. 2023-130. Ms. Gwynn stated her concern that the current legal language included in the ordinance went against current state law and requested City Council provide an opportunity to work in conjunction with the Virginia Department of Wildlife Resources to design a new ordinance pertaining to exotic wildlife regulation.

Eden Elmore, Apprentice Falconer and member of the Virginia Falconer's Association, stated her opposition to proposed ORD. 2023-130. Ms. Elmore shared her experiences as a falconer, and stated her concern that the ordinance would impact the sporting tradition and the wildlife habitations that the sport provided.

Corey Basham, Master Falconer, spoke in opposition to proposed ORD. 2023-130. Mr. Basham stated his concern that the ordinance would negatively impact an import cultural tradition, and he requested Council amend the ordinance to exclude licensed falconers within the city limits.

Lewis Waskey, former board member of the American Federation of Aviculture, spoke in opposition of proposed ORD. 2023-130. Mr. Waskey shared his concern that language in the ordinance would negatively impact exotic bird owners, and he requested Council clarify language to include domestic avian breeds commonly accepted in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Abbitt Hoffman, Virginia State Coordinator for the American Federation of Aviculture and Vice President of the Central Virginia Bird Club, stated his opposition of proposed ORD. 2023-130. Mr. Hoffman shared his concern that the new legislation would negatively impact animal owners and business operators already in accordance with state and federal regulations.

Allan Chipman stated his opposition to proposed ORD. 2023-170, ORD. 2023-171, and RES. 2023-R027. Mr. Chipman also stated his concern that the adoption of the mentioned legislation would be undermining a decision that had previously been determined by a prior referendum. Mr. Chipman also questioned the long term consequences of the practice of rejecting public referendums, and the impact that could have on legislative decisions regarding social justice and racial equality issues.

Joseph Rogers, former employee at the American Civil War Museum, stated his opposition to proposed ORD. 2023-172. Mr. Rogers provided Council with information regarding the history of the site of the proposed amphitheater, and he shared his concern that the memorial markers that identified the historic site had been removed without permission. Mr. Rogers questioned whether the memorial and historic importance of the site would be respectfully maintained.
