Reports from City Administration, Council Staff, and Other Parties

1. Parks Master Plan ~ Christopher Frelke, Director of Parks, Recreation and Community Facilities

CD.2025.370 Parks Master Plan Presentation

A copy of the material provided has been filed.

Christopher Frelke, Director of Parks, Recreation and Community Facilities, gave a presentation on the citywide vision plan for parks, recreation, and facilities. Areas of focus included:

- Timeline for adoption
- Areas of engagement that informed the plan
- · Driving principles and concerns
- Standards for quality, maintenance, and training
- Next steps in the legislative and engagement process

Member Nicole Jones asked if the reported goal number of community engagement touchpoints was 24,000, and if members could receive information on the feedback provided by Council district.

Mr. Frelke stated that the goal number of community touchpoints from the consultant was 2,400 to 3,000, and the estimated 24,000 touchpoints to date is by far the highest level of engagement for city master plans so far, and an excellent response rate. He also agreed to provide district breakdowns of feedback at a later date.

Member Stephanie Lynch arrived at 4:21 p.m. and was seated.

Member Andrew Breton asked if the master plan will include any analysis of how accessible city parks are in terms of walkability and pedestrian safety.

Mr. Frelke stated that the current metric is ten-minute walkability, and the plan includes goal areas related to sidewalks and the development of safe routes to parks.

Member Kenya Gibson stated that having more information on community feedback would be helpful in making decisions, as well as having more time to review the full document once it is made available.

Member Ellen Robertson stated that new plans should actually make commitments to making things happen, not just simply identify priority areas. She also discussed disparities in areas of investment, especially in historically neglected parts of the city as a result of the ward system put fourth by annexation and implemented by bad policy.

Member Reva Trammell thanked Mr. Frelke for the work his team is doing and stated that more action should be taken to assist economically disadvantaged populations, such as lowering the tax rate.

Member Stephanie Lynch stated that there is an opportunity for collaboration with Richmond Public Schools (RPS) to develop a policy regarding vacant and occupied RPS land and potential investment.
