RE: Office of Sustainability EECBG Funding ($262,500.00) for Home Energy Audits and Energy Savings for Richmond’s Workforce Housing Project

PURPOSE: To authorize the Chief Administrative Officer, for and on behalf of the City of Richmond to accept funds in the amount of $262,500.00 from the United States Department of Energy, to create a new special fund for the Office of Sustainability in partnership with the Department of Housing and Community Development, the Department of Public Utilities and the Department of Emergency Communications to provide energy efficiency assistance to our low-income residents.

This O&R request also seeks to designate $250,000.00 of such funds to Viridiant, all for the purpose of providing funding for energy efficiency assistance for low-income residents.

REASON: The City of Richmond's Office of Sustainability is partnering with the Department of Housing and Community Development, the Department of Public Utilities, and the Department of Emergency Communications to provide energy efficiency assistance to our low-income residents in alignment with on-going programs prioritizing home safety, lead pipe removal, and flood resilience. Viridiant, a local non-profit that provides community energy services, will bring the necessary energy expertise to perform home energy audits, install energy saving fixtures, and identify energy efficiency opportunities and incentives tailored to each homeowner.

RECOMMENDATION: City Council approves the $262,500.00 from the DOE Energy Block Conservation Grant Program to create a new special fund to assist low-income households with energy efficiency measures by providing services to approximately 100 homes.

BACKGROUND: The City of Richmond's Office of Sustainability will be partnering with the Department of Housing and Community Development, the Department of Public Utilities, and the Department of Emergency Communications to provide energy efficiency assistance to our low-income residents in alignment with ongoing programs prioritizing home safety, lead pipe removal, and flood resilience. Viridiant, a local non-profit that provides community energy services, will bring the necessary energy expertise to perform home energy audits, install energy saving fixtures, and identify energy efficiency opportunities and incentives tailored to each homeowner. The proposed project will utilize the $262,500.00 of formula grant funds allocated to the City of Richmond through the DOE Energy Block Conservation Grant Program to assist low-income households with energy efficiency measures, by providing services to approximately 100 homes. These services will be provided to the same households receiving repairs through HCD's Healthy Homes program; additional services will also be extended to a number of wait-listed or ineligible applicants. This 2-year program will greatly reduce energy burden and provide immediate financial savings for residents in Richmond's disadvantaged communities. EECEBG funding will allow the City to progress towards meeting its energy efficiency and equity goals, as outlined in RVAGreen2050, and offer an opportunity to strengthen partnerships and grow future energy assistance programs.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT: The City of Richmond has been conducting equity-based community engagement throughout the RVAGreen 2050 planning process, which has been continuously informed by the Racial Equity & Environmental Justice Roundtable (11 community members from communities on the frontlines of climate change who received stipends to represent their lived experiences and vet every step of the planning process). During this process, the Richmond community identified residential energy burden as a top priority. EECEBG funds will allow the City to advance its energy efficiency and equity goals, while also specifically addressing strategy BE 2.1 in RVAGreen 2050; reducing residential energy burden for Richmond's most vulnerable communities and improving residential resilience to climate change. Facilitating and implementing energy efficiency upgrades for Richmond's low-income residents will reduce inequitable energy costs, improve quality of life for residents, and reduce greenhouse gas emissions. Outreach and education will complement this initiative and will include climate education and program promotion. Climate education will include distribution of printed materials to program participants and other project stakeholders (energy audit reports, relative incentives, emergency response materials for heat vulnerability and flooding, RVAGreen climate plan navigator), as well as conducting three community workshops in project neighborhoods and completing an electrification benefits case study for use in outreach. The outreach and education component is part of the residential energy burden strategy in RVAGreen 2050 (BE 2.1), and is a necessary link to expanding energy efficiency programs for our low-income communities in the future.

FISCAL IMPACT: There is no local match required. The department of OOS does not anticipate any impact to the city's budget for this or future fiscal years related to activities associated with this grant.
