Public Hearing

Dr. Eli Coston, Task Force on the Establishment of a CRB Co-Chair, requested committee members not support ORD. 2022-091, stating that the proposed ordinance does not incorporate recommendations of Council's appointed task force. Dr. Coston requested that Council draft an ordinance based upon recommendations of the task force.

Maisie Osteen, attorney with Legal Aide Justice Center, requested Council members amend the proposed ordinance to conform with the recommendations of the Council appointed task force.

Portnoy Johnson stated that the CRB should meet specific needs of communities and follow the recommendations of the task force. Ms. Johnson stated that she is opposed to having law enforcement serve on the CRB.

Yohance Whitaker, member of Richmond Transparency and Accountability Projects (RTAP) and organizer with Legal Aide Justice Center, stated that there has been demonstrated need for an oversight board to transform policing within the city. Mr. Whitaker requested that the oversight board be empowered to solve problems within neighborhoods, end racial disparity, have final disciplinary authority, and make budgetary recommendations.

Keisha Cummings, RTAP member, spoke in opposition to the proposed ordinance based on the lack of professionalism by police within the under resourced areas of the city. Ms. Cummings stated that a representative of the people needs to serve on the CRB.

Bill Pantele, attorney and representative of Richmond Coalition of Police (RCOP), stated that the addition of body cameras has helped reduce police misconduct accusations. Mr. Pantele stated that the CRB would have full access to information needed to form decisions on the actions of current police officers that are in question.

Brendan Leavy, RCOP President, requested that members of the CRB be fully educated and informed of their responsibilities. Officer Leavy also requested that the CRB review the actions and responsibilities of RPD Internal Affairs.

Alternate Member Ann-Francis Lambert provided a summary regarding the March 22, 2022, Public Safety Standing Committee's discussion of proposed ORD. 2022-091. Ms. Lambert stated that more discussion is needed on the proposed ordinance.

Vice Chair Katherine Jordan stated that the CRB should compliment the review process that is already in place; however, if there is already community distrust, then Council needs to work harder at initiating the CRB. Ms. Jordan also stated that more discussion is needed to correct varied issues of the proposed ordinance and that a one year review of the CRB is needed.

Council Member Stephanie Lynch arrived at 2:49 p.m. and was seated.

Inspector General (IG) Jim Osuna voiced concerns regarding the assignment of a CRB staff member to the IG's Office. Mr. Osuna also voiced concern regarding potential conflicts of interest based on the cases that will be presented to the CRB in addition to budget and procedural concerns of the position.

Chair Kristen Nye requested that IG Jim Osuna provide his concerns in writing to Council.

Mayor's Chief of Staff Maggie Anderson provided clarity regarding the CRB position that is in question by the Inspector General. Ms. Anderson stated that the position is not meant to be the conductor of investigations but is meant to oversee the CRB. Ms. Anderson also stated that if an investigation is warranted by the CRB, an independent contractor would be tasked with the investigation.

Committee members discussed the possibility of amending ORD. 2022-091.

Vice Chair Katherine Jordan moved to continue ORD. 2022-091 to the April 27, 2022, Governmental Operations Standing Committee meeting, which was seconded and unanimously approved.

Interim Council Chief of Staff Joyce Davis stated that she would work with administration on possible amendments to ORD. 2022-091.
