Subject: Liberation Church is a terrible location for a polling station

Hey folks!

Just got the press release about maybe moving polling station 909 to Liberation Church from Redd Elementary. I think this is a terrible idea.

Liberation Church is openly anti-gay and anti-transgender. It's on their website - scroll to the bottom here for "Marriage" & "Gender".

I don't care what church goes do or don't do amongst themselves, but using their space for public functions at best sends a bad message as to who is welcome, and at worst endorses their philosophy.

Would we use their church if they were against mixed race marriage? This is a direct equivalent.

Thank you,

John Murden

To Whom It May Concern,

I am emailing to say that I am opposed to the polling place being switched to Liberation Church. I would not feel safe voting in a church whose leaders are anti-LGBT and do not believe in extending equal rights to all members of our community based on their sexual or gender orientation.

Sincerely,

Good morning,

Absolutely not! Any location that is not inclusive of all Americans does not deserve to be a voting center. Such an action is without a doubt a separation of church and state problem. Not to mention just woefully inappropriate.

Liberation Church has a divisive and exclusionary philosophy that will make some voters feel unwelcomed. Please keep the polling place on neutral ground at Redd Elementary.

Good Morning,
I LOVE the NEW Proposed Location for DIST 910.
Getting up to the school has always been a challenge from the GRTC "End of the Line" bus stop @ Haynes Mall.
The Road is narrow & has NO Sidewalk and VERY DEEP ditches. In addition to the long distance of a walk.
I love voting by MAIL even BETTER!!! Absolutely NO drama, my ballot comes by mail, I return it, I don't EVEN have to leave home!!!
With my mobility issues, taking the bus isn't really a viable option anyway.
THANK you for taking the. Time to read my email. Have a Great Weekend!!!
