ORDINANCE/RESOLUTION SUMMARY

The Patron believes that progress has stalled in regards to rezoning the Southside per the recommendations made within the Hull Street Revitalization Plan and the Richmond 300 Master Plan. The Patron believes that the process to implement these zoning recommendations should be taken up with renewed vigor and attention. The Southside of Richmond has gone too long without this attention to their community needs, and ought to have these recommendations implemented forthwith.

BACKGROUND

The Richmond 300 Master Plan is the culmination of more than three years of research, community input, design, and planning as completed by the City's Planning Department. It is the literal blueprint for growth in the City of Richmond for the upcoming decades.

The Master Plan addresses the needs of the varying communities within the City both geographic and demographic. It looks at needs for green space, housing, retail, transportation, among other needs. Housed within this Master Plan is the Hull Street Revitalization Plan, which focuses on the Hull Street corridor within the Southside of the City.
