RE: Approval of The City's Substantial Amendment to the Approved HOME-ARP Allocation Plan and its Submission to HUD

PURPOSE: To (i) approve the City's substantial amendment to the HOME-ARP Allocation Plan as it relates to the proposed use of the $5,840,854 federal award and (ii) authorize the Chief Administrative Officer to submit the amended Plan to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for their review and approval.

REASON: The City's HOME-ARP Allocation Plan is being amended to indicate a preference for projects that will construct affordable rental units for individuals experiencing homelessness.

RECOMMENDATION: Approval is recommended by the City Administration.

BACKGROUND: In the Federal Fiscal Year 2021, HUD allocated the City of Richmond $5,840,854 from its HOME Investment Partnerships - American Rescue Plan (HOME-ARP) Program. This one-time, formula-based funding is intended to help jurisdictions address homeless assistance needs by creating or preserving affordable housing; providing tenant-based rental assistance; funding supportive services, including homelessness prevention services and housing counseling; or purchasing or developing non-congregate shelters.

City Council accepted and approved the appropriation of the HOME-ARP federal award on January 23, 2023, as Ordinance 2023-010 (see Attachment A). To receive the $5,840,854, the City had to submit a HOME-ARP Allocation Plan for HUD's review and approval. The City approved the original HOME-ARP Allocation Plan and authorized the submission to HUD on March 27, 2023, as Ordinance 2023-088 (see Attachment B). HUD reviewed and approved the original submitted HOME-ARP Allocation Plan; however, HUD is also required to review and approve the amended HOME-ARP Allocation Plan.

The City of Richmond and the counties of Henrico and Chesterfield are collaborating on a regional approach regarding the use of each jurisdiction’s HOME-ARP funding based on the fact that housing insecurity is not a challenge that stops at jurisdictional borders. In a letter dated December 13, 2021, the three localities confirmed their intent to collaborate in efforts to reduce regional homelessness (see Attachment C). However, given HUD requirements, each locality had to develop and submit a HOME-ARP Allocation Plan even if working collaboratively.

The substantial amendment to the City of Richmond’s HOME-ARP Allocation Plan (see Attachment D) will aid in aligning the three jurisdictional plans by indicating a shared preference for projects that will create permanent, affordable rental units for individuals who are experiencing homelessness. Indicating a preference does not exclude other HOME-ARP qualifying populations, however, the preference will aid in the jurisdiction’s plan to fund projects for permanent affordable housing for individual adults who are low-income, chronically homeless, and living with disabling conditions. The availability of permanent supportive housing (PSH) is one of the best tools for helping to reduce the number of persons in shelters as well as those who may be unsheltered. The amended Plan also updates data points and notes how a referral process will be managed given the stated preference.

FISCAL IMPACT/COST: The proposed amendment does not create a fiscal impact. The adoption of the Allocation Plan would allow the City of Richmond to utilize the $5,840,854 of the already allocated HOME-ARP funds to further address the affordable housing needs of very low-income and homeless individuals with a preference for permanent supportive housing, upon the review and approval of HUD.

FISCAL IMPLICATIONS: No negative fiscal implication.
